Reading Passage

Last summer, Leo found an old, dusty leather book in his grandfather's attic. Inside the hidden cover, he discovered a folded map with a red mark near Oak Creek. He felt incredibly excited and immediately told his best friend, Mia, about it. Ever since that afternoon, the two friends have searched for the hidden spot. They have looked behind the old mill, and they have scanned the banks of the creek multiple times, but they haven't found anything yet. Today, Leo looked at the map again and noticed a tiny detail he missed before: a drawing of a hollow tree. He has already packed his backpack, and Mia is on her way over. They are ready for another adventure.
